MHLS Announcements

Construction Grant Workshop @MHLS: The New York State Library is offering a workshop at MHLS for libraries interested in applying for a 2008 Public Library Construction Grant. The workshop will be held Thursday, April 24th from 10:30am - 1:00pm. State Library and library system staff will provide detailed information about grant requirements and the application process. Library staff and trustees will have an opportunity to ask questions about the grant program and proposed projects during an open question and answer period. Register online at <http://calendar.midhudson.org/>. [Directions to MHLS can be found at <http://midhudson.org/help/directions.htm>.]

We've got a record number of library supporters signed up to go to Albany for Library Lobby Day on Tuesday, March 11th! There is still room for anyone who would like to join the fun. Check out the Lobby Day Survival Kit at midhudson.org for:

- § Registration
- § Bus information
- § Appointment Schedule
- § Tips for Making it Through the Day

On the homepage you can also take advantage of the NYLA automated faxing program where you can easily send a message to your legislators – just click on the "Become a Library Advocate" button and a few minutes later you will have communicated with both your NYS Senator and Assemblyperson. It really couldn't be easier.

MHLS Libraries

The Greene County Library Association has partnered with All Arts Matter to present the 9th annual Rip Van Winkle Poetry Competition. Taking place during National Poetry Month (April) this is a no-fee competition with cash prizes in both adult and youth categories. On April 26th there will be an awards presentation with a reading of the winning poems by the authors. The program is underwritten by the Bank of Greene County, Brookside Books and Catskill Bookee.

Oldest chartered libraries in MHLS:

Marketing, Advocacy & Funding

Bring Art Into the Library:

Applications are now being accepted for Picturing America, a project of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), conducted in cooperation with the American Library Association. In order to enhance the teaching, study, and understanding of American history and culture, Picturing America brings some of the nation's greatest works of art into public libraries. Successful applicants will receive a set of forty high-quality reproductions of American masterpieces, a teachers resource book and additional educational resources available at <http://PicturingAmerica.neh.gov>. Awards will be announced in May 2008 and distributed in September 2008 for display during the 2008-2009 school year and beyond. For more information about Picturing America, including a list of the artwork featured, grant guidelines, and the online application, visit <http://picturingamerica.ala.org>. Deadline: April 15, 2008.

Find Out What Users Want: The

American Statistical Association (ASA) describes methods for finding what users want through the Survey Research Methods section of their web site, there you will find the "What is a Survey Series" <http://www.whatisasurvey.info/>.

Chapters include:

- What is a Survey?
- What are Focus Groups?
- More About Mail Surveys
- What is a Margin of Error?
- How to Plan a Survey
- How to Collect Survey Data
- Judging the Quality of a Survey
- How to Conduct Pretesting
- Designing a Questionnaire
- More about Telephone Surveys

Reference & Collection Development

"Government Information Online: Ask a Librarian": The U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO) has issued a reminder to librarians that, given the current election climate, questions about primaries, caucuses and the Electoral College process, and more can be answered by the free web-based "Ask a Librarian" service offered at <http://govtinfo.org/>. Called "Government Information Online: Ask a Librarian," the service is managed by nearly 20 public, academic, and state libraries nationwide. [Source: Library Hotline]

The Commons: The Library of Congress Pilot

Project [<http://flickr.com/commons>]

Browse photos in this collection that is a collaboration between the Library of Congress and the online photo management and sharing application Flickr. Users are invited to view photos and help describe the photos by adding tags and comments. Free account required to comment or tag photos. Initial photo sets include "1930s-40s in Color" (with photos from the Farm Security Administration and the Office of War Information) and "News in the 1910s." Administration & Management

E-Product Statistics: In January we changed the way patrons are authenticated to use the e-products available through HOMEACCESS. The primary benefit of this switch is the library-specific user statistics that are now gathered. To see the statistics for your library go to <http://midhudson.org> à Resource Sharing à Management & Reports à Web Access Management Statistics.

You can access your user statistics for TumbleBooks through the TumbleAdmin link at the bottom of the TumbleBooks page. You need your TumbleBook username and the password (teach). Contact Merribeth Advocate, MHLS Outreach & Education Coordinator for your user name if you don't already know it [madvocate@midhudson.org].

Member Libraries are welcome to submit items of interest and job openings to the MHLS Bulletin: bulletin@midhudson.org. The MHLS Bulletin is available on line at <http://midhudson.org/bulletins/main.htm>.

"To fully comply with New York State Minimum Standards the board must periodically seek community input in the development and evaluation of its service program."
